FOR RELEASE: A.M. EDITIONS

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: January 1980

There were 402,309 permanent, full-time jobs available through state employment service Job Banks across the Nation during January, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the February edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (an advanced copy is attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices the previous month. The 402,309 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agencies represent an average of 2,248 openings at the 179 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is 12 percent higher than December and approximately 19 percent lower than the January 1979 average.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during January in the communities listed.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys. These "matched samples" are called comparable districts. Samples are compared from current month to previous month and from current month this year to same month previous year. The trend to fewer job openings being listed in these comparable districts over the year continues.

January's Job Bank openings for comparable districts were 12 percent less than in the same month a year ago. This is the sixteenth consecutive time since these data were first published in June 1977 that one month's job openings have been less than in the same month the previous year.

Of the total number of current 384,169 job openings for comparable districts, about 209,267 or 54 percent, had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 174,902 or 46 percent of the jobs still available as of February 1.

Month-to-month changes in these data may not reflect cyclical variations as this information is not adjusted for seasonality.

Few local areas represented had significant increases in job openings (50 percent or more) between December and January: Florida (Tallahassee), Idaho (Magic Valley), Indiana (Indianapolis), Louisiana (Hammond), New Jersey (Hammonton), Tennessee (Eastern, Lower East, Middle and Western), Texas (Corpus Christi), Washington (Northeast).

Significant industry gains from December to January for comparable districts occurred among employers associated in the following areas: Investment offices (+28.4 percent); agricultural production (+20.4 percent); agricultural services (+10 percent); apparel and accessory stores (+17.2 percent); amusement and recreation services (+17.5 percent).

Occupations with 1000 or more openings and with at least 20 percent more openings than listed last month included those employing: secretaries, file clerks, bookkeepers, accounting and statistical clerks, computing and account recording, telephone operators, housecleaners, gambling hall attendants, sewing machine operators and arc welders-cutters.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of state Job Banks comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every State. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for January exclusively utilized the fourth edition DOT format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978, to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local Job Service offices.

This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains the twelfth issue of a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry." The supplement lists selected available aerospace job openings, and is the first attempt at publishing detailed job order data for use by the general public as a job search tool.

Information contained in the supplement includes Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) code numbers, order-holding office telephone numbers, and actual job order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office to determine the current status of relevant job opportunities.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

February, 1980

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undesirable working conditions.

Starred (★) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Job Search Tips for Your Job Interview

1. Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
2. Develop a work history, including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
3. Learn all you can about the employers products or services. Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - a. Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - b. Be prepared to furnish references.
4. Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
5. Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
6. Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
7. Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity--as well as enthusiasm--are the keys to a successful interview.
8. After the interview, review your answers and behavior. Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews. Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

Special Supplement No. 12

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: February 1980

There were 408,555 permanent, full-time jobs available through state employment service Job Banks across the Nation during February the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the March edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (an advanced copy is attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices the previous month. The 408,555 openings at local offices of the state Job Service agencies represent an average of 2,150 openings at the 190 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey. This month's average openings figure is 4 percent lower than January and approximately 16 percent lower than the February 1979 average.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during February in the communities listed.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous-period surveys. These "matched samples" are called comparable districts. Samples are compared from current month to previous month and from current month this year to same month previous year. The trend to fewer job openings being listed in these comparable districts over the year continues.

February's Job Bank openings for comparable districts were 3 percent less than in the same month a year ago. This is the seventeenth consecutive time since these data were first published in June 1977 that one month's job openings have been less than in the same month the previous year.

Of the total number of current 376,924 job openings for comparable districts, about 187,556 or 49 percent, had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 189,368 or 51 percent of the jobs still available as of March 1.

Month-to-month changes in these data may not reflect cyclical variations as this information is not adjusted for seasonality.

Only a few local areas had any significant increases in the number of job openings between January and February (50 percent or more). Increases were recorded in Kentucky (Covington), Nebraska (West Central), New Jersey (Hammononton) and a significant increase of (107 percent) in Nevada (Las Vegas and Reno). Most of the local areas showed a 10 to 15 percent decrease in job openings during this period.

The most significant industry gains from January to February in Job Bank openings listings occurred among employers associated with: Agricultural products (+38 percent) lumber and wood products (+14 percent); stone, glass and concrete products (+27 percent); amusement and recreation services (+40 percent).

Occupations with 1,000 or more openings with percent increase of openings from last month included those employed in clerical occupations, cashiers and tellers, bartenders, food and beverage workers, vegetable farming, and logging and related forestry occupations.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of state Job Banks comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every state. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive, and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for February exclusively utilized the fourth edition DOT format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

In addition, the data selection criteria were modified as of October 1, 1978, to exclude (1) all job orders over 120 days old, and (2) orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) that are more than 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted by local Job Service offices.

This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains the thirteenth issue of a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry." The supplement lists selected available aerospace job openings, and is the first attempt at publishing detailed job order data for use by the general public as a job search tool.

Information contained in the supplement includes Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) code numbers, order-holding office telephone numbers, and actual job order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office to determine the current status of relevant job opportunities.

The OID bulletin is distributed through state Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

March, 1980

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undesirable working conditions.

Starred (★) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

Pay Range. A weighted average—by number of job openings available—of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates; the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.

Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.

Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.

Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Services's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.

Openings Available For Month. The nationwide total of new full-time permanent openings (openings for jobs expected to last 150 days or more) received by Employment Service Job Banks during the month in the occupations listed, plus those carried over from the previous month.

Openings Still Available at End of Month. The nationwide total of openings still available on the last day of the month. This figure is obtained by subtracting placements and cancellations during the month from the number of openings available.
- 9

Selection Criteria. Occupations included in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings, while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.
- NOTE:

Beginning with the November, 1978 edition (Vol. 2, No. 11), the OID bulletin will exclude data on (1) all job orders over 120 days old and (2) those job orders identified as part of the Mandatory Listing Program (Executive Order 11598) which are over 60 days old and against which no referral activity has been conducted.

U.S. Employment Service

For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office.

March, 1980
Special Supplement No. 13

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and

Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Job Search
 Tips for Your Job Interview

- Know the type of work you're after and the education, experience, skills, and talents you have that relate to that job.
- Develop a work history,including your education and job-related personal information. Know your strengths and weaknesses.
- Learn all you can about the employers products or services. Know why you want to work for the organization and what you might contribute.
 - Learn the usual salary for the job you're after, but let the employer make an offer before discussing pay.
 - Be prepared to furnish references.
- Prepare for questions the employer is likely to ask, such as "Would you tell me a little about yourself?", "Why do you want to work for us?"; and "Why did you leave your last job?"
- Be on time. Dress neatly. Be natural.
- Expect to be a little nervous. But remember, if you weren't being considered for the job, the employer probably would not have asked for the interview.
- Although you are there to sell your strong points, remember that honesty and sincerity--as well as enthusiasm--are the keys to a successful interview..
- After the interview, review your answers and behavior. Note any changes you may want to make in future interviews. Write a thanks-for-the-interview letter. And follow-up to learn of the employer's decision.

For more information on effective job search techniques, consult you local Job Service office public library or school placement center.

FOR RELEASE: A.M. EDITIONS
Wednesday, April 15, 1981

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: February 1981

There were 319,932 permanent, full-time jobs available through State Employment Service Job Banks across the Nation during February, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the March edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (copy attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices during the previous month. The 319,932 openings at local offices of the State Job Service agencies represent an average of 1,600 openings at the 200 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They merely represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during February and should not be viewed as a listing of jobs currently open and available.

Changes in Job Bank openings totals are computed from "matched samples" developed to cover only those geographic areas represented in both current and previous period surveys. These "matched samples" of comparable districts are used for comparisons over time--current month to previous month, and month to year ago.

Of the current total of 308,325 job openings listed for comparable districts, about 173,247 or 56 percent had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 135,076 or 44 percent of the jobs that may still be available as of March 1.

There were very few areas that had any significant increase in the number of job openings for the past month. February Job Bank openings for comparable districts were 23 percent less than in the same month a year ago. These data reflect the continued downward trend in the economy.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of State Job Banks comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every State. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for February used the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry," a selected listing of available aerospace job openings. This supplement lists DOT code numbers, order-holding office telephone numbers, and actual job order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office directly.

The OID bulletin is distributed through State Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Single copies may also be obtained by writing to: Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

March, 1981
Special Supplement No. 25

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Occupations In Demand At Job Service Offices

U.S. Department of Labor
Employment and Training Administration
U.S. Employment Service

For detailed information on specific job openings contact your nearest local public Job Service office

March, 1981

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undesirable working conditions.

Starred (★) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

See page 2 for definitions of key terms and how the occupations are selected for publication here. Page 16 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses.

FOR RELEASE: A.M. EDITIONS

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: MARCH 1981

There were 340,961 permanent, full-time jobs available through State Employment Service Job Banks across the Nation during March, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the April edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (copy attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices during the previous month. The 340,961 openings at local offices of the State Job Service agencies represent an average of 1,785 openings at the 191 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They merely represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during March and should not be viewed as a listing of jobs currently open and available.

Of the current total of 340,961 job openings listed for all districts, about 204,289 or 60 percent had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 136,672 or 40 percent of the jobs that may still be available as of April 1.

There were very few areas that had any significant increase in the number of job openings for the past month. March Job Bank openings for all districts were 22 percent less than in the same month a year ago. These data reflect the continued downward trend in the economy.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of State Job Banks comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every State. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for March used the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry," a selected listing of available aerospace job openings. This supplement lists DOT code numbers, order-holding office telephone numbers, and actual job order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office directly.

The OID bulletin is distributed through State Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Single copies may also be obtained by writing to: Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

April, 1981

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations with large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undesirable working conditions.

Starred (★) job titles indicate occupations where one-third or more of total openings are federally funded public service employment (PSE) jobs. PSE jobs are usually of limited duration and most have special eligibility requirements. These and other federally funded openings are excluded when "areas with significant numbers of openings" are selected.

Page 8 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses and Key Terms and Selection Criteria.

Special Supplement

For Job Openings In The Aerospace Industry

April, 1981
Special Supplement No. 26

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas.

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

1. Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names — Job Bank Districts — are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.

2. Pay Range. A weighted average — by number of job openings available — of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.

3. Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.

4. Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.

5. Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

6. Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Service's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.

7. Selection Criteria. Occupations listed in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings, while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: May 1981

There were 320,261 permanent, full-time jobs available through State Employment Service Job Banks across the Nation during May, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the June edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (copy attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices during the previous month. The 320,261 openings at local offices of the State Job Service agencies represent an average of 1,651 openings at the 194 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They merely represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during May and should not be viewed as a listing of jobs currently open and available.

Of the current total of 320,261 job openings listed for all districts, about 178,159 or 56 percent had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 142,102 or 44 percent of the jobs that may still be available as of June 1.

There were very few areas that had any significant increase in the number of job openings for the past month. May Job Bank openings for all districts were 17 percent less than in the same month a year ago. These data reflect the continued downward trend in the economy.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of State Job Banks comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every State. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for May used the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

This edition of "Occupations In Demand" (OID) contains a "Special Supplement for Job Openings in the Aerospace Industry," a selected listing of available aerospace job openings. This supplement lists DOT code numbers, order-holding telephone numbers, and actual job order numbers for each job listed. With this information, a prospective applicant can call the appropriate Job Service office directly.

The OID bulletin is distributed through State Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Single copies may also be obtained by writing to: Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations for which there have been large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Occupations listed in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings; while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the current availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undesirable working conditions.

Page 8 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses and Key Terms.

Special Supplement No. 28

This insert to the Occupations in Demand bulletin is designed to announce the availability of selected job openings in the aerospace and related industries. It is the first attempt to publish detailed job order data and make it available to the general public as a job search tool.

The jobs highlighted in this section refer to those identified by the aerospace industry as being in need of qualified applicants nationwide. The most critical need for workers, especially engineers, can be found in the

Pacific Northwest and Southern California areas

The code number and job title by which these jobs are presented corresponds to the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Additional employer job titles, where available, are offered as supplementary information to aid in the job search process. The job definitions are contractions of those found in the fourth edition of DOT, and are designed to highlight the principal duties of each job listed in this section. The State and Job Bank District designations are the same as found in all Job Bank Openings Summary data. The order-holding office number and local office telephone number are provided to enable prospective applicants to obtain more detailed, up-to-date information from nearby local offices on those job orders listed. Please refer to DOT code, job title, and job order number when inquiring about job availability. It should be noted that local Job Service offices are authorized to accept collect telephone calls only from other Job Service offices, and only with regard to this recruitment effort.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

1. Area Name: Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names — Job Bank Districts — are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.

2. Pay Range: A weighted average — by number of job openings available — of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates, the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.

3. Job Bank: A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.

4. Job Opening: A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.

5. Job Service: A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service. Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

6. Job Title: Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Service's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: July 1981

(NOTE TO EDITORS: Data for the month of June, not published last month, are included on page 2 of this release.)

There were 311,598 permanent, full-time jobs available through State Employment Service Job Banks across the Nation during July, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the August edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" (copy attached) identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices during the previous month. The 311,598 openings at local offices of the State Job Service agencies represent an average of 1,650 openings at the 187 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They merely represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during July and should not be viewed as a listing of jobs currently open and available.

Of the current total of 311,598 job openings listed for all districts, about 182,301 of 59 percent had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 129,297 or 41 percent of the jobs that may still be available as of August 1.

There were very few areas that had any significant increase in the number of job openings for the past month. July Job Bank openings for all districts were 10 percent less than in the same month a year ago. These data reflect the continued downward trend in the economy.

This information is based on a monthly U.S. Employment Service survey of State Job Banks comprising 2,500 local offices across the country. The computerized Job Bank system operates in virtually every State. Though this network does not include all job openings that exist in the economy, Job Banks comprise the largest, most comprehensive and up-to-date source of information on job openings in the Nation.

Job Bank openings data for July used the fourth edition of the Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT) format, including only those titles and codes presented in that document.

The OJD bulletin is distributed through State Job Service local offices, and is also available at libraries, schools, and similar community facilities. Single copies may also be obtained by writing to: Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009. Its purpose is to inform job seekers--especially those just entering the labor market--what types of jobs are most frequently available, how much they pay, and where they are located.

JOB BANK OPENINGS HIGHLIGHTS: June 1981

There were 331,668 permanent, full-time jobs available through State Employment Service Job Banks across the Nation during June, the Department of Labor reported today in issuing the July edition of "Occupations In Demand at Job Service Offices."

"Occupations In Demand" identifies occupations most frequently listed at Job Service offices during the previous month. The 331,668 openings at local offices of the State Job Service agencies represent an average of 1,650 openings at the 201 local Job Banks covered by this month's survey.

The Employment and Training Administration cautions that there is no guarantee that jobs listed in the bulletin are still available. They merely represent occupations for which there was a continuing demand during June and should not be viewed as a listing of jobs currently open and available.

Of the current total of 331,668 job openings listed for all districts, about 193,166 or 58 percent had been filled or cancelled by the end of the month. This left some 138,502 or 42 percent of the jobs that may still be available as of July 1.

August, 1981
Vol. 5, No. 8

This monthly bulletin highlights occupations for which there have been large numbers of job openings available throughout the United States. It is based on job orders placed by employers at public employment service Job Banks during the previous month.

Occupations listed in this bulletin generally are those that were frequently listed at one or more Job Bank district during the previous month. To be considered "frequently listed" in a local area, an occupation must have had a disproportionately large number of openings relative to the total number of openings available at the local Job Bank. For example, a frequently listed occupation in a Job Bank district with 7,000 total openings per month must have had at least 50 openings; while occupations listed for an area with 1,000 total openings could have had as few as 20.

Information published in Occupations in Demand generally provides a good indication of what occupations are in greatest demand in the national Job Bank network. Your nearest Job Service Office is able to assist you in determining the current availability of openings included in this publication.

There is no guarantee that a suitable job is currently open in each occupation and location listed. Also, competition for some jobs may be keen, while others remain open because of low wages or undesirable working conditions.

Page 4 lists State abbreviations and State employment security agency Job Service addresses and Key Terms.

Key Terms and Selection Criteria

1. Area Names. Locations identified are those with a relatively large concentration of job openings in the occupation listed. Most area names — Job Bank Districts — are established labor market areas. Reading from left to right, area names are listed in alphabetical order by State abbreviation.

2. Pay Range. A weighted average — by number of job openings available — of the pay offered by employers for the occupations listed. The low range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the lowest pay rates; the high range reported represents the average pay for those openings that account for 20 percent of the total openings available with the highest pay rates.

3. Job Bank. A daily computerized listing of job openings listed at public employment service offices in various locations. Job Bank data are organized in terms of State and local areas. Information in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin is based on a summary of openings data for the preceding month.

4. Job Openings. A vacant or open position which has been listed by an employer for filling with a public Job Service office.

5. Job Service. A relatively new term used to describe the State Employment Services affiliated with the U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor. These agencies are responsible for providing public employment services through a network of 2400 component local offices located throughout the country.

6. Job Titles. Occupational designations used are based upon the coding system provided by the fourth edition of the U.S. Employment Service's Dictionary of Occupational Titles (DOT). Each entry in the "Occupations in Demand" bulletin corresponds to a unique title and code in the fourth edition DOT.
